

Hello,

My name is Hayley and I am a Researcher at the University of Cambridge. I am getting in touch to let you know about a research study that we are conducting in the Department of Psychiatry, called Attend Well (<https://attendwell.org.uk/>).

- We are also inviting parents/carers and young people to take part in this research.
- Young people aged between 11 and 18 can take part in this study if they have ever found it difficult to attend school, as well as their parents/carers.
- We would be very grateful if you could help to connect us with parents and students who you think could contribute to the evidence base on Emotionally Based School Non-Attendance
- If you would be happy to share this study with parents and young people, please direct them to <https://attendwell.org.uk/> or email me at attendwell@medschl.cam.ac.uk for more information.

Thank you very much for your time.

Kind regards,
Hayley Gains
